

When the others came back the air was filled with laughter and relaxed communication. He seemed so much with us that I said: "Yusuf, what about a little Scotch?" With that shy, naughty smiling face he turned to the doctor who thought it was a wonderful idea.

Yusuf loved to hear singing and it was the regret of his life that he felt quite incapable of holding a tune. He suddenly said: "What about a song - Amajoni". We tried our tuneless best but he thought it was great and moved his hand with the rhythm.

And soon thereafter, as if he had done everything he wanted to do, he slowly relapsed into a coma and passed away a few hours later.

Who but Yusuf could have turned this moment of irreversible defeat into a victory of pure will? Who else could have turned such a moment of immense sadness into laughter, inspiration and song? We were there to comfort him and instead he comforted us in his very last hour.

»... IN THE FORE-FRONT OF OUR BATTLE FOR FREEDOM».

— ZENZILE MEHLO

(MADINOGA DETACHMENT)

History would not regret if Reagan, Thatcher, Botha and Pinochet had died twenty years ago. But it is the wish of mankind that Karl Marx, Frederick Engels and Vladimir Ilyich Lenin lived to this day to witness the fruition of their work. Be it the Soviet people and the entire socialist community, the embattled working class in the capitalist countries, the toiling masses in the developing countries or those who are still fighting for national independence, the loss of these three great liberators of mankind is still felt with grief.

South Africa, too, has produced heroes in the likes of Comrade Yusuf Dadoo, fighters for freedom whom our fighting people cannot do without. From his youthful days till his heart ceased to beat, he was in the forefront of our battle for freedom. His contribution is immeasurably great.

Comrade Mota, as patriots and revolutionaries we are fully aware that the higher we advance the more difficult will be the way forward. But we shall not waver. As you once said when addressing the June 16 Detachment of our people's army, Umkhonto we Sizwe six years ago: "We can see freedom over the horizon".

To emulate you Comrade Chairman, we the youth of the ANC, combatants of Umkhonto we Sizwe vow that nothing will stop the revolutionary advance in South Africa while we are still alive. Our Black, Green and Gold hoisted in various parts of South Africa in the face of fascist bullets will in the near future be raised forever in the land of our birth.

The 1962 Programme of the SACP which was adopted at an underground conference held in Johannesburg bears the imprint of Dr. Dadoo's valuable contribution. This programme is a giant step in the development and understanding of our liberation struggle and a reliable guide to action for all genuine patriots. It states in part:

"As its immediate and foremost task, the South African Communist Party works for a united front of national liberation. It strives to unite all sections and classes of oppressed and exploited people for a national democratic revolution to destroy white domination.

(MONCADA DETACHMENT)

Our people's heroic leader has shown us through his life-struggle what it means to combine revolutionary ideas with practice. He gave himself heart and soul to the cause of his people and of the freedom and peace-loving mankind the world over. As a leader and fighter he was respected not only by the struggling people of South Africa but also by the international working class movement and the whole of progressive mankind.

We the youth in the fighting ranks of the African National Congress and Umkhonto we Sizwe are fortunate to have the opportunity of receiving comradely and fatherly guidance produced by the rich historical experience of the struggle of our people at home from such great leaders and heroes like Doctor Dadoo.

As we bid farewell to Doctor Dadoo, a big question confronts us: How much advantage are we taking of the presence and nearness of our leadership?

This is no question to be answered with good speeches. It is now high time that we account individually as to how far we are practically turning the teachings we receive from our leadership into action to ensure the liberation of our people. This is the way to pay tribute to our leader, Comrade Yusuf Dadoo.
