

The first 500 houses of the contentious Glenmore township on the Fish River. The houses make up a temporary township to house squatters from the coastal farm Klipfontein, who will form the nucleus of a work force to build a further 5 000 houses over five years.